

ALT BRIDGE CULTURAL NEWS

Kirby Art Gallery

Thomas Judge: Image is the current exhibition at Kirby art gallery, showcasing his interesting work. He is a Liverpool born artist, who grew up in Kirkby. He is entirely self-taught, with this exhibition being his very first solo show. His work first became known to Kirkby Gallery through the paintings displayed in the Knowsley Open Art exhibitions.

He is inspired through different sources, ranging from moments in his life, films, nature and society. Thomas paints for his own entertainment.

As part of their Arts award qualification our current year 10s had the opportunity to visit the exhibition. They enjoyed looking at the fascinating work. They had been given the opportunity to interpret the meanings of the pieces.

The exhibition runs from 16 January – 8 April 2023.

Admission is free

Dot Art Competition

All Year 9 pupils have had the opportunity to take part in dot-art Schools to celebrate children and young people's creativity, build their confidence and improve wellbeing. Pupils have generated their own outcomes based on their own theme. We are so impressed with the quality of work they have produced and their ability to work independently to create some fantastic pieces of art.

Dot-art Schools is an interactive, online, inter-school, art competition, which takes place annually and culminating in a public exhibition of the winning artworks. All Alt Bridge entries have been submitted and are waiting for an expert judging panel to_ Select the top 3. The entry with the most votes will win a place in the public exhibition in June. The final exhibition will take place at the iconic Royal Liver buildings.
